

The Kalsman Institute Online

The Kalsman Institute proudly announces the launch of its redesigned website, www.huac.edu/kalsman, created in 2000 as an online address for the Institute's work. Five areas of focus are incorporated into the new site as navigational tools to help illustrate our current efforts and resources:

Pastoral Education ♦ Spirituality & Healing ♦ Bioethics
Illness & Wellness ♦ The Healthcare System

Each section lists related programs, people and resources. The new site maintains many of the elements of the original website, including information on Kalsman Partners, Institute staff, and current and previous activities. New features include direct navigation to audio and video recordings of past conferences, lectures and special presentations as well as how to learn about or make a donation to the Kalsman Institute.

The "Expressions" area offers a space for creative writings, kavannot and highlights of art installations which we have co-sponsored. Al Winn's photo essay on his experiences with illness are accompanied by Israeli artist Judith Margolis' paintings and drawings. Samples of her work have been used as graphic accents throughout the Kalsman site to punctuate the core imagery of our work in health and healing.

Phase One of the new website will launch at the end of October, 2006. Phase Two will add additional resources including Jewish texts, listings of new Kalsman Partners and highlights of the January Partner Gathering. The website was developed with the strategic and design inspiration of HUC-JIR's National Department of eLearning. We are proud to show off this beautifully designed and expanded resource to you and will send out an announcement upon its launch. We look forward to your participation and comments.

The Kalsman Shabbaton & Partner Gathering

THE 2007 PROGRAM features an optional pre-Gathering Shabbaton. Scholars-in-residence on Friday through Sunday will be Professor Arnold Eisen, the Daniel E. Koshland Professor in Jewish Culture and Religion at Stanford University's Religious Studies department; recently appointed the next chancellor of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and Professor Adraene Leveen, Senior Lecturer in Hebrew Bible in Stanford University's department of Religious Studies. Professors Eisen and Leveen will discuss "Modes of Memory." Through contemporary Jewish expression and biblical tradition we will discover how collective memory may haunt or engage us, and bring us together. Professors Eisen and Leveen, husband and wife, look forward to spending Shabbat with us.

THE KEYNOTE SPEAKER Sunday and Monday at the traditional Partner Gathering will be our Partner Thomas Cole, Ph.D., Director of the Center for Health, Humanities, and the Human Spirit, University of Texas. Tom will discuss "Aging, Memory and Life Extension." We will consider the changing definition of what it means to be an aging human.

THE PARTNER GATHERING WILL HONOR Rabbi Richard Address, D.Min., with HUC-JIR's Sherut Lam Award for revolutionary work in Jewish congregational life. Rabbi Address is the Director of the Union for Reform Judaism's Department of Jewish Family Concerns. Singer, songwriter and healer Debbie Friedman received the award at the previous Partner Gathering.

AREAS OF FOCUS
The Kalsman Institute is a center for training, collaboration and dialogue at the intersection of Judaism and health. Programs

Join the Kalsman Institute at Brandeis Bardin in Simi Valley, California. Two distinct events are featured: Shabbaton, Friday afternoon through Sunday morning; Partner Gathering, Sunday afternoon through Monday.

The Kalsman Institute invites leading health and healing professionals to participate in our biennial Partner Gathering. This year we are particularly enthusiastic to welcome our Israeli Partners. Since the first Gathering in 2001, this two-day conference has enabled new subjects to be brought to the foreground and has created valuable occasions for networking and sharing. In 2003 over 80 Kalsman Partners gathered to learn about stigma and its implications on work, in health and healing. In 2005 over 100 Partners heard an economist's perspective on fundamental healthcare policy issues. To view selected segments online, visit the Kalsman website at: www.huc.edu/kalsman/videoaudio.
